CBD Bracelet

Our Story

TANKA was created by Nimrod, Adi & Amnon Vardi when some of their family and friends began complaining about how daily aches and pains were standing in the way of doing what they love most.

Believers in the combination of the natural healing power of CBD together with their already proven control release technology they got to work on an approachable solution that is using the slow release from plastic bracelet that could help people like their family and friends who want the medical benefits of hemp without the psychoactive side effects.

Amnon who is an experience chemical engineer with long time experience in plastic technology developed the bracelet unique control release technology.

By using this technology to help people TANKA was born.
